

Love & Friendship across cultures

Ravi Lulla BA, MA (Medical & Psychiatric Social Work), MPhil Counselling Service, University of Melbourne

In a multi cultural environment, healthy friendships and workplace relationships need to be developed within a cross cultural context. While cultures are no barrier when it comes working together, establishing friendships, or falling in love, they can come in the way when you need to make these relationships work. This interactive workshop explores:

- Cultural differences which affect relationships
- Improving friendships and relationships across different cultures
- Cross cultural communication skills